

Another Cold Front Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Arkansas weather is expected to be cold and dry through Friday with no rain forecast until Saturday.

Another cold front is dipping southward to reinforce the cold air in the state. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said no precipitation is expected when the front passes through the state tonight.

Skies are predicted to be clear to partly cloudy tonight and Friday with much colder temperatures expected. Low tonight are expected to drop into the teens in northern portions of the state.

High temperatures Wednesday ranged from 29 at Harrison to 42 at El Dorado. Overnight lows ranged from 22 at Harrison to 38 at Texarkana.

Rainfall reported for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included .61 at Pine Bluff, .59 at Texarkana, 1.73 at El Dorado, .71 at Memphis, .42 at Little Rock, and traces at Fort Smith, Walnut Ridge, Harrison and Fayetteville.

Louisiana is divided into parishes instead of counties.

In five other cities: San Francisco, Dallas, Cincinnati, Chicago and New York.

The Post Office's Bureau of Facilities estimates the department will need about two billion one-cent stamps to meet the needs of customers when the postal hike takes effect. To meet the demand, a spokesman said, government printers are "working 24 hours a day, shipping seven days a week—and we don't anticipate any short-ages."

The Post Office also is issuing a new one-cent stamp Jan. 12 with a picture of Thomas Jefferson on it.

Six cents' postage will be required on letters postmarked Jan. 7. Letters postmarked later and bearing only five cents postage will not be returned to the sender, but will be forwarded to the addressee—possibly accompanied by a request for one-cent postage due.

Postal officials were not certain whether all letters carriers will demand the penny postage due on all letters postmarked Sunday and bearing only five cents postage. One official suggested it might cost the Post Office more than it will receive just to collect the penny due on all letters.

Here are the new rates: First-class letters will go from 5 to 6 cents an ounce; air-mail letters from 8 to 10 cents an ounce; postal cards from 4 to 5 cents each; airmail cards from 6 to 8 cents each.

Second-class mail rates—mostly newspapers and magazines—will be increased about 24 per cent. Bulk third-class mail—mostly advertising circulars—will go up 34 per cent.

The increases will yield about $900 million a year in additional revenue.

members had ever said anything to him about his reform actions at Tucker, or indicated disfavor with his actions.

Murton also expressed surprise at the resignations and indicated he would have rather worked with the present board. He said he had hoped to receive the appointment from the present board rather than one appointed by Rockefeller.

The resigning members conceded the prison head job to Murton and said that although "we are not convinced that Mr. Murton will prove satisfactory, we are deferring to your (Rockefeller's) wishes and have approved his appointment on a temporary basis."

Rockefeller said after the announcement of the resignations that the title "temporary or acting superintendent" was an academic matter and that Murton was "definitely responsible for the prison system."

Murton took over at Cummins Prison Farm Monday, replacing O. E. Bishop, and described the situation there "rather tense," but said he didn't expect any immediate trouble.

Murton said he would work half a day at both prisons for a few days while clearing up matters at Tucker, where his assistant, Robert Van Winkle, will take over.

The only changes Murton would reveal were the firing of the executioner and elimination of the strap. No one has been executed in four years, Murton said, and he terminated the $125 month job for economic reasons.

Murton said inmates had been fed rumors about "the dastardly things that I'm going to do" at Cummins, including taking away the prisoner's money and free-world clothing.

Murton said he announced to the inmates in bulletin board memorandums that he would not eliminate money for 30 days. He said this would give "the loan sharks" time to get their money back.

He said that if any jobs were to be sold they would have to be sold during the 30 days because he was ending the practice.

Prior to the announcement of the resignations, Murton asked the board for considerable farm equipment for both Cummins and Tucker and for an "emergency fund" for unexpected expenses.

Wood said the request was reasonable, especially in the light of increased federal rice allotments, but pointed out that unless the legislature appropriated the prison money, it would be insolvent this spring.

The board said funds to operate the farm would have to be appropriated during the special legislative session, which is scheduled to begin Feb. 5.

The board also discussed a report from the state Pharmacy Board on an inspection of the pharmacy at Tucker and Cummins.

Students Form Their Own 'Peace Corps'

By PHILIP WECHSLER
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—After several years of racial tension and periodic violence at Atlantic City High School, the students have formed their own group, "The Peace Corps," to head off further trouble.

Their program involves what one member described as "cool diplomacy."

Corps teams, each with a Negro and a white member, are visiting classrooms during school hours in an effort to discuss racial attitudes with each of the school's 2,850 students, one third of whom are Negroes. Adults are excluded at the students' request.

The first corps project was 12 after-class meetings with seniors to air their feelings.

The corps, composed of 30 white and 30 Negro youths, was formed two months ago.

for heart research or the estate of the heart donor Clive Haupt.

Dr. Blalberg received Tuesday the heart of Haupt, a young factory worker felled by a stroke. Grootte Schuur Hospital said today the dentist is fully conscious and in good spirits, but has had no solid foods yet.

Dr. Jacobus Burger, medical superintendent of the hospital, said the chances were "very remote" that the 58-year-old patient's body would reject the heart.

Blalberg is expected to remain in an oxygen tent for another three or four days. He was under constant observation, with checks being made on his pulse rate and blood pressure at least every half hour. His blood gases are analyzed twice daily, and the chemical content of the blood is tested every four hours.

The hospital spokesman said to guard against infection and too much emotion, Blalberg would not be allowed to see his wife for several days.

The spokesman also said that radioactive cobalt treatment to counteract the body's natural tendency to reject a foreign object—the transplanted heart—would begin within a few days.

Dr. Christian Barnard, who headed the surgical team for the transplant on Blalberg and for medical history's first recorded heart transplant Dec. 3 on Louis Washkansky, had indicated that Blalberg would be given less antirejection treatment than Washkansky. The treatment was believed a factor conducive to the pneumonia which killed Washkansky 18 days after the operation.

Meanwhile, the National Broadcasting Company went to court in an attempt to block a South African photographer who it said threatened to infringe on its contract with Blalberg and his wife for exclusive photo coverage and interviews before, during and after the operation.

NBC said it contracted with Dr. and Mrs. Blalberg last Friday to pay them $9,000 for exclusive films and interviews before the operation, $25,000 for "publication of the first exclusive film or pictures of the operation," and $16,000 for exclusive coverage afterward.

Dr. Barnard refused to permit NBC to photograph the operation, and court sources said this apparently would reduce the Blalbergs' take $25,000. But NBC in an affidavit to the Supreme Court said photographer Don McKenzie slipped into the gallery of the operating theater and made photographs of the operation before Dr. M.C. Botha, a member of the surgical team, ejected him.

Justice Basil F.J. Banks issued an order temporarily restraining McKenzie from selling or disposing of photographs relating to the operation. He was ordered to appear for a hearing Jan. 17 to determine whether the restraining order should be made permanent.

NBC said McKenzie flew to Johannesburg Wednesday, and the court order was sent after him. The Cape Times said he was a fashion photographer well known in social circles.

Lucy Jarvis, the NBC producer preparing a documentary on heart transplants, said in New York Dr. Barnard had given the network full cooperation until he returned from the United States, then "we found ourselves completely shut out, and we were not able to do our coverage."

"We went to the Blalbergs to protect ourselves, and they agreed," Mrs. Jarvis said. "They needed the money—the costly illness had cut into their savings—if they did not sell it to us, they would have sold it to someone else."

Severe Cold Numbs Wide U.S. Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Severe cold—some of the worst of the season—numbed the Northern Plains today while freezing drizzle again glazed the country from Oklahoma to the Appalachians.

The latest in a rapid succession of arctic cold snaps pushed the mercury down to 33 below zero at Williston, in western North Dakota, before dawn. The Weather Bureau indicated readings lower than 40 below were likely.

The new polar invasion was expected to overspread the entire Midwest by Friday.

Driving remained hazardous for residents of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee as the result of an onslaught of freezing drizzle, sleet and light snow which has plagued the region since New Year's Day.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for states east of the ice storm belt. The Weather Bureau forecast accumulations of more than 4 inches for mountain sections of the Virginias and Maryland, already coated with ice after Wednesday's sleet and freezing rain.

The Christmas-New Year holiday continued for many school children in Oklahoma, Kentucky and Tennessee due to ice-coated highways which periled bus and auto traffic. Kentucky officials reported at least 22 county school systems shut down. Several county school systems also remained closed for the third day in Tennessee, including Nashville.

Business places in some communities in middle Tennessee cut off some work shifts Wednesday due to the ice storm.

Kentucky State Police posted hazardous driving warnings throughout their state and closed down more than 135 miles of U.S. 31W to and from Bowling Green Wednesday night due to severe icing. Three highways out of the city were blocked by jackknifed tractor-trailer trucks. An added hazard was a forecast of an inch of snow with incoming cold weather.

tions of Prince Sihanouk." In a New Year's Day statement of his own, Sihanouk explained his own position.

"If Mr. Johnson wants to send an ambassador to Cambodia to negotiate," he said, "this is possible, but what is going to be negotiated? There will be negotiations so that the two countries do not become enemies."

Bowles also has already consulted on the sanctuary issue with officials in India, one of three members of the International Committee (ICC), which is supposed to supervise Cambodia's neutrality.

The United States has urged beheading up of the ICC, and Sihanouk, in extending an invitation to a U.S. envoy, blamed Communist Poland for using its veto power to block an extension of ICC operations. Poland and Canada are the other ICC members.

In the same statement—in response to questions posed by the Post—Sihanouk switched an earlier stand in acknowledging some Vietnamese Communist use of his nation as a sanctuary.

B52s also made saturation raids today on suspected enemy infiltration routes 59 miles northwest of Saigon, near the U.S. 25th Infantry Division camp eight miles from the Cambodian border where enemy troops made repeated attacks Tuesday. U.S. officers reported 343 Communists and 13 Americans killed and 153 Americans wounded in that fighting, which began before the end of the New Year's cease-fire.

Closer to Saigon, Red gunners attacked a U.S. 1st Infantry Division bivouac 27 miles northwest of the capital with rocket grenades and mortars Wednesday night, wounding 13 American soldiers. In a series of similar attacks and jungle skirmishes in the area, 20 other American infantrymen were wounded.

Communist mortar attacks scattered through the Mekong Delta below Saigon inflicted some casualties on South Vietnamese militia forces defending isolated outposts, and killed at least four civilians and wounded 37.

To The Citizens Of Hempstead County

Work will start soon on the Construction of this section of Interstate 30. This job will involve all but the paving of I-30 and will include Missouri Pacific and state Highway 29 Expressway overpasses along with the reconstruction of State Highway 29 in the interchange area.

During the course of this work there will be many pieces of construction equipment, large and small, at work all along this route. Traffic will be maintained at all times. If you travel this road please do so with extreme caution, watch for any machinery present and observe flagmen and all warning signs. The nature of this work will cause many inconveniences that will be unavoidable but with your cooperation we will be able to complete this work in a minimum of time. Our company is an equal opportunity employer. It is our intent to build a quality road which Hempstead County can be proud of and which will be worth every tax dollar that all of us expect as taxpayers.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comments on the Hollywood scene—
Plans to stage the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor with a massive two-nation film production have hit a delay because of the Vietnam war. Filming was supposed to have begun this month on the Japanese portion of "Tora! Tora! Tora!," a monumental undertaking by 20th Century-Fox and the company of famed director Akira Kurosawa.
"But the picture can't be made without the cooperation of the United States Navy," reports Richard Fleischer, who is scheduled to direct the American portion of the film. "The Navy has offered to help, but it can't guarantee the use of ships because of the Vietnam situation."
"We'd be in terrible shape if we started filming with the ships and then had them pulled out for Vietnam. So now the picture is postponed until fall, when the situation might be more stable. The plan is to shoot the American part of the story first, and then follow with the Japanese portion."
"Tora," which means tiger, was the code word used by Japanese pilots to signal the success of their Dec. 7, 1941 mission.
Audiences at world's fairs have been dazzled by the use of multiple projections on a single screen—four, eight or more different movies being shown in checkerboard fashion. It was highly effective in the U.S. Pavilion of the Seattle Fair, the Johnson's Wax Exhibit at New York, and in several presentations at Expo 67 in Montreal.

SNEAKY LOOK CHILLS

PARENTS
Dear Helen: I get along fine with the girls at school, but the minute their parents meet me I'm back in Nowhere City. They say I look sneaky and like I'm a bad influence. What's wrong?—NOT UGLY GUY

Dear N. U.: You didn't send me your picture so I can only make an educated guess what you should take two inches off the top, add two inches at the bottom, stand tall, look people straight in the eye, and act as if adults were human.

Parents are peculiar. They distrust long hair, short pants, and slouched shoulders, especially on a boy who ignores them.

Dear Helen: Watching an old cowboy and Indian movie, it occurred to me why today's long-haired "men" deserve the scorn that comes their way.

Yesterday's long-hairs stood and fought for their convictions, right or wrong.

Today's straggly-locks, unfortunately, have only one conviction: that they should have the right to look and act as hideous and ridiculous as they please. The majority run from the word "conflict." They run from themselves under the pretense of being ing "non-conformists." "Mini" is the key word. They are mini-men who are mini-minded towards.

Let's hope they never go for haircuts: their mini-brains would show.—JACQUELINE, AGE 20.

Dear Helen: I don't usually write letters to columns, but I must protest to the girl who defended "Hell's Angels." They're not underdogs—they're mad dogs!

About 80 of them stopped to eat in our little town last month. Then they cleaned out the cash register, took all the merchandise they wanted, wrecked the place, terrorized residents to their innocent little hearts' content, then roared off to their next victims.

These dear romantics apparently go from coast to coast enjoying themselves at the expense of honest people. Our town is not in California, but in the northeastern part of the United States, where we thought nothing like this could ever happen.—VIC.

TIMIZED YOUR HELPING HAND DEPARTMENT

Dear Helen: My 15-year-old cousin has been in the hospital for six months, following an accident. She was in a coma for three months. Now she is a little better, but was left paralyzed from the waist down.

Would some of your readers please send cards to cheer up Sheila Vestal, in care of Martinez County Hospital, Martinez, California? Thank you.—MRS. A. S.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bittel in care of Hope Star.

Duke Would Like to Beat Tarheels

By RON RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Duke and North Carolina already have one thing in common—Vanderbilt—and the Blue Devils are now casting covetous glances at the Tarheels' place in the college basketball Top Ten.

Duke, unranked as yet, boosted its season record to 7-1 Wednesday night with a come-back 89-84 victory over Davidson, which, until last week, was in the Top Ten itself. North Carolina, No. 3, beat Wake Forest 74-62.

Both clubs' lone defeats were suffered at the hands of Vanderbilt, rated fourth. The first meeting between Duke and North Carolina will come Saturday at Chapel Hill, N.C.

The Blue Devils fought back from a 50-43 deficit early in the first half to their victory.

"As long as we continue to scratch and claw as we have all season," said Vic Bubas, Duke coach, "this bunch will make a good showing against anybody."

Davidson Coach Lefty Driesell added, "If Duke continues to shoot like they did tonight, they can beat anyone in the country."

The Blue Devils outrebounded Davidson 55-33 and Mike Lewis and Dave Golden each had 22 points. North Carolina got 23 points from Rusty Clark, 22, from Charlie Scott and 20 from Larry Miller in downing Wake Forest.

Seventh-ranked Utah boosted its record to 11-1, beating American University 84-77. Merv Jackson had 27 points and Walt Simon had 26 for the Redskins. Ninth-ranked St. Bonaventure, with Bob Lanier scoring 33 points, beat Kent State 80-63, the Bonnies' 10th straight triumph.

New Mexico, No. 10, won its 12th straight, beating Air Force 88-60 with Ron Nelson scored 26 points. Calvin Murphy, second leading scorer in the country, poured in 39 points against Buffalo State, leading Niagara to a 94-79 victory.

The nation's top-ranked small-college team, Kentucky Wesleyan, was knocked off by No. 2, Evansville 71-64. The Kentucky club fought back from a seven-point halftime deficit to take a brief lead late in the game, but baskets by Mike Owens and Dave Weeks gave Evansville its final lead.

In other games, Marquette ran its record to 9-2 with a 71-50 victory over De Paul, Dayton beat Xavier 83-80, St. Louis topped Drake 89-78, Loyola of Chicago crushed Western Michigan 97-76 and Toledo outlasted Bowling Green 73-67 in overtime.

And in a barn-burner in Washington, George Washington beat East Carolina 71-68 in a game that went to four overtimes.

Hope Teams Play Tonight at Bodcaw

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Anxious on returning to their Pre-Christmas form, Hope High School's basketball teams head to Bodcaw tonight for a set of three contests, with the first match fixed for 6:00 p.m.

This evening it will be the Hope Jr. High 8th graders facing the Bodcaw Jr. Boys in the opener, followed by a senior girls game and the finale with the Hope "B" Lizards and Bodcaw Senior Boys.

The junior contest should be a good one, as Coach Caylord Solomon's boys have been improving with each practice, and are preparing for the thick of their schedule. The Lady Cats take on Bodcaw in the middle one, and the Hope girls are favored to take their 12th win against 4 losses. In an earlier meeting the Lady Cats walked away 57-25 at Hope.

Coach Bill Lawrence's Hope "B" Lizards try for their fourth consecutive victory against Bodcaw's Senior Boys. Bodcaw took the teams' first game 64-60 back in December, so the locals will carry a note of revenge.

With their long wait nearly over, the Hope Bobcats move into Region 4-AA competition tomorrow evening when they host the Magnolia Panthers at Jones Field House. The Bobcats play Magnolia Jr. High in the first game at 6:30 p.m. The Bobcats' first breaking offense has been steadily improving, and Coach Joe Austin commented that progress really was made in practices over the holidays, but Magnolia is one of the choices for the 4-AA championship, and therefore could be tough.

The Bobcats will give their all, though, and the entire squad is in good condition for Friday night's game. Then on Saturday night the El Dorado Washington Hornets visit Hope for two games on the same format as the Magnolia setup. KXAR will broadcast the action on both nights.

Lonborg May Join Bosox During April

By LARRY ELDRIDGE

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox' hopes of repeating as American League champions have been dealt a blow with the word that pitching ace Jim Lonborg's recovery from knee surgery may keep him sidelined for virtually the entire first month of the 1968 season.

The big right-hander, who was injured in a Dec. 24 skiing accident, was scheduled for release from the hospital today, but club trainer Buddy LeRoux said he wasn't expected to be back in action until several weeks after the April 9 opening game at Detroit.

"From a realistic point of view he won't be ready for the opener," LeRoux said Wednesday. "The doctors all feel that sometime in May would be the date for him to return to action."

That could mean the loss of half a dozen or more starts for the hurler who bulkwarked the Red Sox' otherwise undistinguished staff all through the 1967 pennant drive, finishing with a 22-9 record, earning the Cy Young Award as the league's top pitcher, and winning two World Series games.

Lonborg was the only consistently effective pitcher on the staff last season, with other starters moving in and out of the rotation while the team's heavy hitting and good clutch performances carried it to the pennant. The next biggest winners were Jose Santiago, 12-4, and Garry Bell, 13-13 for the year and 12-8 with Boston after being acquired from Cleveland.

Even before Lonborg tore two ligaments in his mishap at Lake Tahoe, Nev., the Red Sox had considered their over-all pitching situation one of the major problems for 1968. The club has already made two trades designed to strengthen mound corps — obtaining Ray Culp from the Chicago Cubs and Dick Ellsworth from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Lonborg underwent a two-hour and 10-minute operation Dec. 27 at Santa Maria Hospital in nearby Cambridge. He said in his hospital room Wednesday that he felt good, was looking forward to leaving, and knew nothing about LeRoux' comments or the question of whether he'd be ready by the start of the season.

The sea horse looks much like the knight in a chess game.

Sugar Ray Makes the Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifteen years after his first retirement and two years after his last one, Sugar Ray Robinson has made boxing's Hall of Fame.

Five times the middleweight champion and once the welterweight title holder, Robinson was elected to the Hall along with two fighters of another era, heavyweight Joe Jeannette and lightweight Barney "Young" Aaron.

Robinson, often called "pound for pound" the best fighter the sport has ever known, drew 223 votes from an international panel of sportswriters and broadcasters, one over the minimum amount needed. The balloting was compiled by Ring Magazine and announced Wednesday.

Robinson first retired in Nov. 1952 when he held the middleweight crown, but he came back two years later and continued his career that saw him win 175 of 202 fights, 109 of them by knockout. He lost 19 and drew six. No decision is listed for the other two.

Robinson nearly added the lightweight title to his collection in 1952. Ahead of Joey Maxim on points, Robinson collapsed from heat exhaustion in the 14th round. He finally retired in 1965. Robinson is now 47.

Jeannette, elected by a special old timers committee, met nearly every top heavyweight from 1904 to 1919. Aaron won the American lightweight title in 1897.

In the modern group, a boxer had to be listed on at least 75 per cent of the ballots cast. Max Baer, former heavyweight champion, drew 209 votes, 13 short of the minimum.

Kentucky School Heads Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was an up-and-down situation for most teams battling for spots in The Associated Press' small college basketball Top Ten, but top-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan and No. 2 Evansville held their positions.

In the latest poll, announced Wednesday, Kentucky Wesleyan, 5-1, got five first-place votes and 104 total points, while Evansville, 8-1, received two first-place ballots and 84 points.

Long Island University, the Top Ten's only unbeaten team, defeated Stonehill, Bridgeport and Boston University last week to run its record to 10-0 and move from fourth to third place.

Fourth place was taken over by San Diego State, 6-2 and fifth-ranked last week, after a victory over Claremont-Mudd.

Indiana State and Southwest Missouri are tied for fifth. Indiana State lost to Weber State and dropped from third, while Southwest Missouri, idle last week, jumped from ninth.

Trinity, Tex., which also took the week off, moved from eighth to seventh as Southwestern Louisiana lost to Weber State and dropped from sixth eighth.

Ninth place is occupied by Winston Salem which dropped from seventh after losing to Kentucky Wesleyan. Newcomer Guilford is 10th, replacing Akron which lost to Buffalo State while Guilford won two of three.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. Kentucky Wesleyan (5) 104
2. Evansville (2) 86
3. Long Island (1) 73
4. San Diego State (1) 51
5. Indiana State (6) 50
6. Southwest Missouri (1) 50
7. Trinity, Tex. 42
8. Southwest Louisiana 36
9. Winston-Salem 34
10. Guilford 13

Minnesota's Maniago Shuts Out the Kings

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Cesare Maniago has the Los Angeles Kings' number and obviously, it's a big, round zero.

Minnesota's Maniago shut out the Kings for the third straight time as Minnesota trounced Los Angeles 6-0 in National Hockey League action Wednesday night.

It was the fourth shutout of the season for Maniago and tied him with Montreal's Gump Worsley for the league lead in that department. Last month, the lanky Minnesota goalie strung three straight shutouts together, two of them over the Kings.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Oakland absorbed its fourth straight shutout, bowing to St. Louis 4-0. New York battled from behind for a 5-5 tie with Boston and Montreal tied Toronto to 1-1.

Maniago kicked out 35 shots as Los Angeles dropped its fifth straight game. The victory moved Minnesota within two points of the second place Kings in the NHL's West Division.

Veteran Parker MacDonald led the North Stars' attack with two goals.

Rookie Frank St. Marselle fired a pair of goals and Glenn Hall recorded his 70th career shutout as the St. Louis Blues blanked Oakland.

The loss extended Oakland's scoreless streak to 13 periods. The Seals have not scored a goal since Dec. 25.

Ken Hodge fired a pair of goals for Boston but the Bruins twice blew two goal leads as the Rangers rallied for the tie.

Bob Nevin and Jim Neilson scored third-period goals that gave New York the deadlock. Four of the Rangers' five goals came on power plays.

Gilles Tremblay scored with less than seven minutes to play giving Montreal its tie with Toronto.

Mike Walton's 20th goal of the season had given the Maple Leafs a second period edge and the goal stood up until Tremblay connected in the final period.

Americans Have a Bad Home Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The home team supposedly has the advantage in basketball, but the New Jersey Americans had a terrible time pressing it home. In fact, they almost didn't get home to press it.

The Americans, who lost 97-96 in New Orleans Tuesday night, were scheduled to leave the New Orleans Airport at 1 a.m. to return home for Wednesday night's American Basketball Association game with Kentucky.

But fog delayed their departure until 4:45 p.m., and by the time they were ready to take the court at the arena armory it was 10:30 two hours past the scheduled starting time.

Once the game started, the weary Americans rolled to an 18-point lead, then they faded and Kentucky closed to within two points, 113-111, with nine seconds left. But Tony Jackson then clinched it with two foul shots, and the Americans had a 115-111 victory and a chance to get some sleep.

Walt Simon led the Americans with 30 points and Dan Anderson added 28. Louie Dampier scored 38 and Jim Ligon 27 for Kentucky.

In other ABA action, Houston edged Denver 89-83 and Anaheim ripped Indiana 122-111.

Chicago beat Baltimore 113-94, New York topped Philadelphia 129-115, Boston outlasted Los Angeles 113-103 and San Diego edged St. Louis 126-124 in double overtime in the National Basketball Association.

Houston, which led 71-69 after three periods, took advantage of a seven-minute span of the fourth quarter in which Denver failed to score a field goal, to pick up its victory. Willie Frazier paced Houston with 24 points and Larry Jones led Denver with 19.

Indiana, picking up its sixth victory in seven games, was led by Ben Warley's 27 points. Fred Lewis of Indiana led all scorers with 37 points.

8 Cardinal Players Are Fined

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Head Coach Charley Winner says the St. Louis Cardinals have one of the finest coaching staffs in the National Football League, but the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says the players don't agree.

The eight players were fined an estimated total of $3,200 for missing a bed check when the team was in New York for the final game of the season against the Giants. The Giants won the game 37-14.

The Globe-Democrat then charged in its editions today that the players had missed the bedcheck on purpose. The newspaper said the Cardinals are in the midst of widespread player dissatisfaction with the coaches, the management and fellow players.

But Winner refused to comment on the stories. He was in Mobile, Ala. scouting the Senior Bowl game.

"I mean anything that happens on our ball club is a closed affair between the coaches and players and there's nothing to say about it," Winner remarked. He then praised his coaching staff.

But the toughest problem on the club, which finished with a 6-7-1 record, according to the Globe-Democrat, is the unhappiness of Negro athletes with an assistant coach and with fellow players. Every Negro on the club attended a three-hour meeting at which their complaints were aired, the newspaper said.

Later in the week the players gave Winner a two-page letter outlining their grievances and demands. The Globe-Democrat said many of the demands "were not unlike those being fought for by civil rights groups around the country."

Athletic Head Will Speak

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — James Jeffries of Kansas City, Mo., executive director of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, will be a special guest speaker at the first Fort Smith Northside High School coaching clinic Jan. 19-20.

Jeffries will speak next week at the national coaching convention at New York City.

Big Buster Mathis, a 6-foot-3 giant who has trimmed down from 300 pounds to an almost sleek 240, started the war of words with Joe Frazier, the solemn-faced, 5-11, 210-pound heavyweight contender.

"That's just big talk," said Frazier later. "He's making a lot of mouth now. We'll see what happens in the ring."

The talking came after it was officially announced Wednesday that the two 23-year-old unbeaten heavyweights would battle for New York and Massachusetts recognition as world heavyweight champion in the new 20-000-seat Madison Square Garden in the week of March 4. The date will be announced within a week.

It will be part of a championship doubleheader. Middleweight king Emile Griffith of New York will take on Italy's Nino Benvenuti in the third and rubber match between the two.

Nino won the crown from Griffith on a 15-round decision last April 17 and Emile regained it the same way on Sept. 29.

Frazier and Griffith already have the jump on their opponents. They will collect flat guarantees of $175,000 each while Benvenuti will get $80,000 and Mathis $75,000.

The Garden hopes to pay off the $505,000 out to the four principals with a $750,000 gross on tickets priced from $10 to $100 and the television receipts. The telecast may be either on home television or by closed circuit to theaters and arenas.

The fighters won't share in the television receipts.

The announcements by Eddie Dooley, chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, and by Eddie Urbee, chairman of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, that they would recognize the heavyweight winner as champion created a stir and some critical remarks at the press conference.

Frazier, with a 19-0 record including 14 knockouts, is ranked first by Ring Magazine and seventh by the World Boxing Association which is supporting an elimination tournament. He had been ranked second by the WBA until he declined to participate in the tourney.

Mathis has a 23-0 record, including 17 kayos, but has not fought anyone of consequence. He is unranked by either Ring or the WBA.

Buster, of Grand Rapids, Mich., however, beat the Philadelphia twice in the amateurs three years ago. He whipped him in the Olympic Trials and then in a practice fight, both three-rounders.

"We agreed to the Garden's request to recognize it as a title fight because they are the best two heavyweights around today," said Dooley. "Rankings don't mean anything. Anyone can make rankings."

LEGAL NOTICE

Proposed Budget of Expenditures Together with Tax Levy for Fiscal Year Beginning July 1, 1969 to and including June 30, 1970.

The Board of Directors of Hope School District 1-A of Hempstead County, Arkansas, in compliance with the requirements of Act 403 of 1951 and of Amendment 40 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, have prepared, approved, and hereby make public the proposed budget of expenditures together with the tax rate as follows:

Teachers Salaries $663,130; General Control $38,600; Instructional Cost (Operating Fund) $23,000; Transportation $60,000; Operation of Plant $45,000; Maintenance of Plant $25,000; Fixed Charges $40,000; Other (Operating) $5,000; Capital Outlay $5,000; Debt Service $97,000. To provide for the foregoing proposed budget of expenditures the Board of Directors proposes a tax levy of 40 mills. This tax levy includes the present continuing levy for the retirement of present indebtedness, (there is no increase in the Tax Levy). GIVEN this 12th day of December, 1967.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS Hope School District No. 1-A of Hempstead County, Arkansas. Dr. Herbert Rogers, President, Willam E. Tolleson, Secretary.

BALLISTIC TRANSPORT would carry 110 passengers at 17,000 miles an hour to any point on earth in 45 minutes. In concept described by a Douglas Aircraft engineer, rocket would be launched from a subsonic sled speeding across valley floor and up mountainside.

New Kit Lets You Lube It Yourself

Times change. There's no longer any need to take your sports car, power mower or boat motor to the corner grease station for that periodic grease job. You can do your own lubricating for far less money, and do it wearing clean white gloves.

An old line American manufacturer has developed an ingenious new packaging for lubricant . . . a full cartridge so clean it could be stored in a dresser drawer with shirts or lingerie. Inserted in a specially designed Uni-Mite grease gun, the cartridge lubricant is delivered under a tremendous 10,000 pounds of pressure. The gun is a simple, trigger-controlled device which can be operated easily with one hand. The unique gun-and-cartridge combination has become a favorite gift for car buffs and home tinkers . . . because of its small size, its ease of operation, its cleanliness and adaptability to virtually any grease job, from lawn mower to farm tractor.

The gun along with three cartridges of all-purpose grease, sealed in a tight blister pack, is being distributed by Bruskin Sales, 853 Dundee Ave., Elgin, Ill. The price is less than $5.00. Both lubricant and gun are unconditionally guaranteed for quality and performance. Replacement cartridges are available, packed three in a plastic sleeve.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Leaving Body to Science Helps Medical Students

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

From time to time I get letters asking how to go about leaving one's body to science. This is a very worthy intention. As the Demonstrators' Association puts it: "Let the dead teach the living." Our medical and dental schools are chronically handicapped by having an inadequate number of bodies for their students to work on—now that the once-popular robbing of graves is generally frowned on. (Many persons do not know that dental students, although they spend most of their time on the head and neck, must dissect the entire body.)

The best plan is for you to contact the school of your choice in the state where you live. The American Medical Association (535 N. Dearborn, Chicago, Ill. 60610) or the American Dental Association (211 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611) can assist you if you do not know the name and address of such a school. It is important that it be in your own state because most states have laws forbidding the shipment of bodies across their boundaries for dissection. Many schools will be glad to send you a wallet card reading:

Good defense may merely be a matter of individual brilliance. Really expert defense requires co-operation of both partners and mutual confidence.

Our favorite hand of this type for 1967 occurred in a New York City mixed pair. Connecticut bridge teacher Sally Johnson sat East and Oswald Jacoby West.

We don't really recommend West's overall, even-though one of us did make it. (Jim says, "The older my father gets, the more he likes to bid.") Anyway the overall didn't keep South from arriving at three no-trump. He could have made his contract against any defense at all and would have made it easily without the actual defense that faced him.

The queen of diamonds lead was normal. Mrs. Johnson covered her partner's queen with the king. South took his ace and played ace and another heart. Dummy's jack lost to East's king and the three of spades was led.

South ducked and Jacoby was in with the queen. It was now up to him to make a key play and he did. He was sure his partner had started with exactly three diamonds. If she had only two, then South would have five, if she held four she would not have played the king. Where was the ten of diamonds in that case? In the East hand. Sally would not have played the king from king and two small.

Jacoby led his nine of diamonds and Mrs. Johnson was careful to put on the ten. Then she led her deuce of spades.

South went up with the ace, entered dummy with a club, played the queen of hearts, cashed the rest of his clubs when the ten of hearts failed to drop and settled for down one.

Contribution No. 1 — Social Security; Street Footnote

Thirty-five years ago Franklin D. Roosevelt was swept into the Presidency, launching a Liberal administration which under one party label or another has remained in power continuously to this day. I use the term "Liberal" advisedly. A Liberal is one who backs progressive programs with all the cash resources that Government has. A Radical, on the other hand, backs all spending programs regardless of short cash or strained credit. There is historical evidence to support the observation that Liberals long in power are subject to the occupational disease known as Radicalism, and are thrown out of office just before national bankruptcy.

The ironic fact about Liberals, and even Radicals, is that frequently the greatest achievement they leave behind is a monument to something diametrically opposed to their own way of life.

Thus the free-spending Government set up by Franklin D. Roosevelt 35 years ago in almost its first enactment established the Social Security System. That is to say, a free-spending political body enforced private thrift upon its people.

For Social Security is indeed a thrift institution, being merely a Government-administered system of compulsory saving for Old Age.

The Liberals' greatest accomplishment is a monument to Conservatives — which should remind you that success in politics isn't so much a matter of being right or wrong, but of being first to think up a good thing.

After yesterday's reply to the Hot Springs man's letter criticizing Hope's streets had been duly read and digested a Hope citizen who formerly lived in Hot Springs pointed out a fact I had failed to cover.

Hope, the local citizen reminded me, has a particularly tough soil situation. In Hot Springs, this person went on, the streets have a firm ground formation, but Hope, on a bog-like prairie, has a shifting base. "When I lived in Hot Springs," our informant continued, "I noted that the streets were the same before and after a storm. But almost the first thing I learned on coming to Hope is that the surface of our streets changes with almost every rain."

I knew, of course, but didn't think of it when writing yesterday's reply — furthermore, space limitations chop off every editorial before it runs too long — a built-in good fortune for long-winded gentry.

But the added fact of our soil problem only increases our need for more municipal street funds. I think eventually the people of Hope will be persuaded to approve a finance program such as they defeated last Fall — but perhaps twice as big in both debt and benefits.

Someone Did Place Call

CHICAGO (AP) — What do you do when you're hanging by one belt-hook, four stories above a downtown Chicago street at 5:30 a.m.? Window washer Joseph Bacigalupo, 54, was in that predicament Wednesday.

He had slipped from an icy window sill before he could attach his other belt hook and he couldn't reach up to grab the ledge.

First he yelled for help until he was hoarse, but there were no pedestrians at that hour. Then he dropped his bucket and then desperately dropped his keys.

Finally, a half-hour later, firemen arrived and hauled Bacigalupo down on an aerial ladder. Someone had called them.

Ship to Use Hairdriers

SEATTLE (AP) — Three hairdriers were loaded aboard a tanker, but not because the ship has feminine crew members. The driers are to be mounted on bridge portholes in hopes they'll help clean salt spray and ice off the glass when the weather is bitter in far northern waters.

"Portholes are round like a woman's head," said the ship's agent explaining the experiment, "and about the same size, too."

BEWILDERED SURVIVORS of a Viet Cong attack on their village, this Vietnamese woman and child can only stare vacantly after Communists shelled the community and then moved in to capture 11 children aged 11 to 16.

McElroy Enters Not Guilty Plea

Fred McElroy, 68, charged with first degree murder in the November 11 fatal shooting of his wife, Mrs. Lamour McElroy, 54, entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity in Hempstead Circuit Court yesterday.

Judge William Arnold, III, ordered McElroy committed to the Arkansas State Hospital for observation for a period of 30 days. A petition by McElroy's attorneys for bail was denied by Judge Arnold.

McElroy is charged with shooting his wife to death at the home of her friend, the night of November 11. He has been in Hempstead County Jail since the shooting.

Pacifists Plan Arkansas Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansans for Peace, a recently formed pacifist group, has scheduled a Conference on the Draft for Jan. 26-28.

Mike Vogler and Paul C. Williams revealed plans for the conference Wednesday but said they did not know where it would be held.

The meeting may be held at a house on Battery Street here which the two and four other members of Arkansans for Peace occupy.

One of Six Americans on Diets; Hoping to Improve Health

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: One out of every six Americans is now on a diet, either in the hope of achieving better health or a more acceptable silhouette.

The American buffalo is making a comeback. An estimated 60 million bison ranged the continent before fur and meat hunters almost exterminated them in the 19th century. Now some 20,000 of the shaggy beasts exist in protected government or private herds.

Prosperity note: One person on relief can cost the government $100,000 or more during his lifetime.

Live heart transplants are new, but an artificial heart was developed at the Rockefeller Institute here back in 1935 by the late Dr. Alexis Carrel. He was assisted by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. But the use of metal plates to replace other injured body parts dates back at least to the Incas of South America, who flourished before Columbus voyaged to the New World.

Post Office Set for Heavy Demand for 1¢ Stamps After Sunday

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department, anticipating a heavy demand for one-cent stamps when the cost of mailing a letter jumps to six cents Sunday, says it has 1.4 billion penny stamps on hand to help Americans use up their five-cent stamps.

The Post Office began stockpiling one-cent stamps last September when Congress started considering the department's proposal to hike the cost of mailing a letter from five to six cents — the third postal-rate increase in 10 years.

The department also has been working around the clock producing six-cent stamps — all bearing the profile of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It has about four billion of these.

But the early demand is expected to be for penny stamps since there probably will be lots of fives still around when the rates go up Sunday.

Most of the 1.4 billion one-cent stamps — green and bearing a picture of Andrew Jackson — are stored in an auditorium at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington. The department also has a few smaller stockpiles strategically located.

3 Members of Prison Board Quit

By PETE YOUNG

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller got all but finalization of the appointment of Thomas O. Murton as prison superintendent Wednesday when the three board members who opposed naming Murton resigned.

The resignations by board chairman Jeff Wood of Cabot, Grady Woolley of El Dorado and L. M. Greene of Siliam Springs became effective Jan. 14. The term of a fourth member of the board, R. E. Jeter of Wabbaseka, expires at the same time, giving the governor four more appointees to the board.

This would allow Rockefeller to name supporters of Murton to the board, and formally name him superintendent. Last Wednesday, the board named Murton "acting" and later "temporary" superintendent, but refused to name him to the post permanently.

The board majority has insisted on an administrator, which they say Murton is not, and the governor has insisted he wanted a penologist, and that he wanted Murton.

Murton, who taught penology at Southern Illinois University, has served as superintendent at six institutions, one in Alaska, which he helped establish.

The three board members said they resigned because of an impasse between them and the governor over the appointment of Murton, which they said they were unable to approve, despite "unsuccessful efforts to resolve the problem earlier."

"Our experience with Mr. Murton during the past months as assistant superintendent in charge of Tucker (Prison Farm) will not permit us to approve him as superintendent," the three said in the letter of resignation.

However, none of the board members would say what those experiences were, nor did they mention them in their letters.

Murton, attending the meeting, said none of the board

Bluff City Man Is Paroled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 38-year-old Bluff City man sentenced to life in prison for the slaying of three of his in-laws in 1954 was one of 84 convicts paroled Wednesday by the state Pardon and Parole Board.

The man, Dextle Culley, was convicted of first-degree murder in the rifle shooting deaths of the three, but former Gov. Orval Faubus reduced his sentence to 42 years.

American Losses in War Drop

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in the Vietnam War increased during Christmas week despite cease-fires proclaimed by both sides, but the number of wounded dropped sharply, the U.S. Command reported today.

South Vietnamese government casualties decreased slightly, the number of enemy killed dropped, but those of other allied forces increased over the totals reported the week before.

The U.S. Command said 185 Americans were killed in action last week, compared with 166 the week before. The number of wounded was 437 last week, compared with 1,361 the previous week.

Of the 437 wounded, the U.S. Command said, 130 did not require hospitalization.

The new totals raised to 15,997 the number of Americans killed in action in the Vietnam war and the number of wounded to 99,742. Another 878 Americans are listed as missing or captured.

More than half the American combat casualties were recorded in 1967: 9,353 killed and 72,209 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 227 government troops killed last week, 556 wounded and 63 missing. The previous week 234 were reported killed, 629 wounded and 26 missing.

Other allied forces reported 37 men killed last week and 47 wounded, compared with 20 killed and 34 wounded a week earlier. None was listed as missing.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported a total of 1,438 enemy killed last week, down from a readjusted total of 1,674 a week earlier. Of the combined count for last week, 815 enemy were reported killed by South Vietnamese forces and 623 by U.S. and other allied forces.

The U.S. Command said American military strength in South Vietnam climbed to 486,000 last week, up 8,000 from the 478,000 reported a week earlier.

Transplanted Heart Still Doing Fine

By DAVID J. PAINE

Associated Press Writer
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Philip Blalberg was reported in "entirely satisfactory" condition today, 48 hours after he received a heart transplant.

His attorneys announced the retired dentist and his wife will not keep for personal use the money they are due to receive under a contract for television rights they signed last week.

The contract was disclosed Wednesday night when the National Broadcasting Co. of New York sought to protect it.

The contract was for $50,000, but half this sum apparently fell by the wayside when pictures of the operation were forbidden.

"The money accruing to Dr. and Mrs. Blalberg will not be for their personal use," said a statement by their attorneys. "The entire amount will be donated to organizations and individuals connected with the heart transplant operation on Dr. Blalberg."

The lawyers said the Blalbergs had avoided publicity until they were approached by NBC for exclusive rights set out in the contract. They added the Blalbergs contracted on the basis that the entire income would be paid to the Groote Schuur Hospital or to the recently established Chris Barbad Fund.

Bowles to Be Tapped by Johnson for Talks With Cambodia Prince

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) —

President Johnson announced today he is sending Ambassador Chester Bowles to confer with Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia on the question of use by Communist Vietnamese of his country as a sanctuary.

The United States government is sending a representative to Cambodia in response to the indication given by His Highness Prince Norodom Sihanouk, chief of state of Cambodia, that he would agree to receive an emissary of President Johnson. Ambassador Chester Bowles has been selected for this mission, and the governments of Cambodia and the United States are in agreement that Mr. Bowles should arrive in Phnom Penh within the next few days.

Bowles is U.S. Ambassador to India.

At issue in such talks suggested last week by the Cambodian chief of state is what U.S. officials term the growing use of Cambodia as a sanctuary for North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops battling the United States and her allies in South Vietnam.

Bowles, 66, has previously attempted to restore harmony to U.S. Cambodian relations.

Bowles participated in talks in New Delhi with Cambodian officials in 1965 after Sihanouk broke diplomatic relations with the United States. The prince at that time accused the Central Intelligence Agency of plotting against him.

In the current situation, Bowles cut short a holiday in South India to rush back to New Delhi on New Year's Day for a special appointment with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India to discuss the Cambodian question.

Since Dec. 23, U.S. officials from President Johnson on down have been voicing a deep interest in a reported offer from Prince Sihanouk to discuss the issue of use by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong of Cambodia for a hideaway. He had accompanied the bid with assurance that he would refrain from using his own forces against American troops engaged in hot pursuit of Vietnamese Reds in unpopulated areas of Cambodia.

Sihanouk first took this stance in an interview published by the Washington Post in which he said he was "caught between the hammer and the anvil."

Reacting at a New Year's Day news conference at his Texas ranch, Johnson said that "we" read the prince's quoted statements "with a great deal of interest — and I might say pleasure" and they were being studied carefully.

He said, too, that "we are quite encouraged by the reaction."

Infantry in Pursuit of Enemy

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen today pursued North Vietnamese troops that tried to overrun three American bases near Da Nang, and the Communist death toll in South Vietnam's five northern provinces climbed to at least 400 since the New Year's truce ended Tuesday.

The North Vietnamese kept up heavy machine gun fire at American helicopters moving troops and supplies into the Que Son Valley south of Da Nang. One helicopter was shot down today, making a total of five downed in two days. The crew was rescued, and U.S. fighter-bombers tried to knock out the enemy guns.

Brig. Gen. Charles Ryder, assistant commander of the American Division, said his troops killed "about 300" enemy troops, including 241 in attempts to seize Landing Zones Ross and Leslie in the valley about 25 miles southwest of Da Nang. The other attack Wednesday was against nearby Landing Zone West.

Ryder said he believes the North Vietnamese "may be regrouping and I fully expect them to continue the attack."

Two of his companies patrolling were attacked early today, but reports of the action were sketchy.

Two of the Que Son Valley bases came under sporadic mortar attack during the night, and the Americans fired thousands of mortar and artillery rounds.

Delayed reports from other parts of the 1st Corps area — the five northernmost provinces — listed 111 Communist killed.

A platoon of U.S. soldiers bolstered by a squad of Marines said about 25 Viet Cong riflemen opened up on them Wednesday about 20 miles south of the Que Son Valley. The Americans said after beating back the initial attack, they surrounded a nearby Communist fortified village and attacked it, killing 51 enemy soldiers. They reported no American casualties.

A South Vietnamese outpost in western Quang Tin Province lost contact with government headquarters for nearly a day, then reported today its forces killed at least 60 North Vietnamese regulars in a series of attacks Tuesday by two North Vietnamese battalions. U.S. helicopters helped with flares illuminating and automatic weapons fire.

American casualties so far in the Que Son Valley fighting were put at 26 killed and 149 wounded. This brought American losses reported in the 1st Corps area since Tuesday to at least 44 killed and 228 wounded. The South Vietnamese reported moderate casualties in several battles.

U.S. officers said Communist plans for the assaults on the Que Son bases had been captured from the body of a North Vietnamese regimental commander killed Dec. 8 on a reconnaissance mission.

"Many documents indicated (the enemy) wanted this area back," Ryder said. "This has been his house. We had pushed him back into the hills."

Intelligence officers said a wounded prisoner captured Tuesday told questioners that about 1,000 North Vietnamese troops had come out of the mountains two nights before the attacks Wednesday.

In support of the American Division, eight-engine B-52 bombers dropped tons of explosives Wednesday night and today on the east side of a mountain.

Congress to Be Problem for Johnson

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Johnson prepares for the battles of 1968 one problem must ponder beside the banks of the Pedernales is the port-circuit in his dealings with Congress.

Ironically, too, for legend has it that Lyndon B. Johnson is another Merlin the Magician in knowing which Capitol Hill buttons to push and how hard to push them.

But if he is to live up to his reputation in this critical year and it is probably impossible Johnson will have to find his missing wizard's wand.

Last year the President not only failed to bowtell Congress but found his biggest trouble-makers in the ranks of his own party on Capitol Hill. . . . Sen. J. Fulbright, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—all are democrats who promise to haunt Johnson in the argument concerns of 1968—Vietnam, fiscal policy and politics.

There is no magic formula for dealing with such differences, and the breaks in Johnson's relationships with Fulbright and McCarthy appear beyond repair.

But in the broader range of communications, there were persistent mutterings last year, particularly from the House, that liaison between the White House and Capitol had become strained or even severed.

For Johnson the need for a smooth White House-Capitol operation is more urgent this year. He will have to run with Congress' record this election year.

The late President John F. Kennedy inaugurated the White House-Capitol liaison staff and installed Lawrence F. O'Brien as its Machiavelli.

It can be a tedious craft, keeping the pipelines open between Congress and the executive department.

It involves plotting legislative strategy, dawn-to-dusk patrolling of Capitol hallways and repeated telephone calls to size up sentiment or coax it in another direction, knowing the key men on vital issues and what they want.

Under O'Brien the craft became a fine art.

Last year, almost two years after Johnson gave O'Brien the additional job of postmaster general, the m-ttering started. There were complaints of bad timing on legislation, faulty efforts to sample sentiment, unanswered telephone calls, lack of aggressiveness and so on.

One key Democrat complains bitterly in private that Johnson's advisers don't always give the President the straight goods and that he is often forced to interrupt Johnson monologues in order to make his point.

The result, he contends, is a lack of understanding between the White House and top Democrats in Congress.

An administration adviser shrugs off such criticism. The President, said he saw more members of Congress more often last year than ever before.

"You can't win at this game," he adds ruefully. "One year they complain you're twisting arms. The next year they complain that you aren't twisting arms."

"It's like baseball," another adviser says. "When you've got the votes and you win the big ones, the manager's a genius. The next year you don't have the votes and the manager's a bum."

ready set by the Supreme Court — and contends Dallas' standards are unconstitutionally vague and ambiguous.

The Chicago distributor says that city's appeal procedure is so time-consuming that films can be arbitrarily kept out of theaters "beyond any permissible constitutional limits."

The Chicago firm, Teitel Film Corp., also claims an Illinois court improperly ruled "rent-A-Girl" and "Body of a Female" obscene on grounds they are calculated to arouse sexual desire.

Teitel argues the Supreme Court already has held that sexual arousal is not a test of obscenity.

The court will hear the Dallas case—and is expected to decide whether to accept the Chicago case—shortly after it reconvenes Jan. 15.

Neither case challenges the constitutionality of film censorship itself. That appeared to be upheld, with restraints, in the court's Freedman vs. Maryland decision in 1965.

But they ask further guidelines on just what an obscene film is and how long a city can keep a questionable picture out of theaters through appeal procedures.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Music Hall," NBC's weekly Wednesday night variety show, tried something different this week and, as most programs in this series do, it turned out very well. There were three musical acts, each vastly different from the other, and each in turn had many minutes in the spotlight.

First there was Nancy Wilson, an attractive young singer, in an assortment of night-club type songs.

Then there was Victor Borge, who as usual was vastly amusing as he clowning in familiar style around the keyboard and, also as usual, never quite satisfied the audience's desire to hear him play the piano more. And he plays the piano superbly.

Perhaps most impressive of all was the young team of Simon and Garfunkel who sang, for the most part, their own haunting bittersweet ballads.

Only at the very end were the stars together on stage, and then for a few lines of a song, it was all very effective. The settings were handsome and the mood quiet and easy.

Simon and Garfunkel are just one of many young performers who are currently enchanting audiences of all ages. They are two earnest young men who, without any props except Simon's guitar, can climb on any makeshift stage or stand in the center of an elaborate TV set and weave their musical spell.

Peter Noone, whose Herman's Hermits will be seen in a half hour musical documentary next Tuesday night on NBC, remarked recently that although the Beatles are generally credited with opening up the field for young musicians and launching the new sounds and new beats, it was really kicked off by Englishmen inspired by America's Elvis Presley, then an international rage among the teenagers.

"The sound really started as an American sound," said the 20-year-old Noone who is the Herman of the British quartet. Presley even started the mod look—remember his long hair and sideburns? Most of us stuck with instruments like the guitar, drums, bass and piano because we couldn't afford to have somebody like a saxophone player who couldn't sing and play."

Noone was 15 when with some Manchester schoolmates he formed a singing group. They performed in small clubs and gatherings around the English city "trying to pick up a few bob wherever we could."

"Pete Novak and the Heartbeats"—Noone then was Novak—because we decided to find the most unusual name in the world. What the name did not achieve, one hit record did. Now the boys comprise one of the best known groups, travel the world, play to jammed audiences and, not incidentally, make a lot of money.

Noone and his fellow musicians will be seen in a half-hour television show Tuesday which is made the easy way. A crew and cameras merely photographed Herman and the Hermits at work one night last fall when they were giving a concert for 40,000 at the Ohio State Fair. Then the film was edited to fit the time spot.

"We didn't have to do anything about it," Noone said. "not even fuss about makeup or clothes."

British Get chance to bid for Arms
By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — It appears the United States has opened short of any ironclad commitment to buy an additional $10 million in arms and equipment from Britain.
What this country did was to give the British a chance to bid for more orders — in competition with U.S. firms seeking the

Bounce back with Borden's Buttermilk!

business.
This became evident in the wake of a Defense Department announcement Monday that it had agreed to add $100 million to "the target" of $725 million in purchases from British manufacturers.
Asked what kinds of equipment the British are likely to sell to the United States, and whether there is a prospect for big new arms contracts for British firms, the Pentagon replied: "While there is no guarantee that the British will obtain the orders, they will be able to bid competitively on such items as ships, electronic equipment, ammunition, communications equipment, aircraft, aircraft engines, tires, etc."
The opportunity to bid competitively can be something less than a blessing, as shown by a recent case involving proposed construction of nine U.S. Navy minesweepers.
The British defense ministry registered the third lowest of four bids submitted.
When the Navy opened the bids, the British bid of $55 million for the whole package was found to be more than $5 million higher than offers made by two American shipbuilders.
The contract for the minesweepers has not yet been awarded. Whether or not Britain will be selected to build the vessels, even though it did not submit the low bid, remains an open question.
The U.S. agreement tentatively earmarking $825 million in arms purchases from Britain is in the nature of an offset for $2.88 billion in U.S.-made arms, aircraft and other military equipment purchased by Britain.
The U.S. increase of $100 million, it was explained, was designed to keep pace proportionately with a $375 million increase in the British outlay.
For this reason, Pentagon officials said, the move is not in conflict with President Johnson's new emergency program to slash the balance-of-payments deficit by at least $3 billion this year.
As one official put it, "there is no conflict with Johnson's order because what we buy from the British has a direct relationship to what they buy from us."
This points to another probable reason for the $100 million increase in the target for purchasing military gear in Britain: To deter possible British cancellation of some purchases of military aircraft from the United States.
The British some time ago decided to buy about 50 of the swing-wing F111A warplanes, plus about 160 F4 Phantom Jets and a small number of C130 transports.
The United States is particularly anxious that the British go through with the planned purchase of the F111s.

St. John Is in Bloom Only
4 Weeks Year

SAN GIOVANNI in FIORE, Italy (AP) — This town of poverty whose name means St. John in Flower has blossomed for four fleeting weeks and receded again into its loneliness.
Eight thousand of its menfolk, almost every able-bodied male of the 20,000 population, have headed north again to their year-long jobs in Germany, France, Switzerland and the factories of North Italy.
Those who remain behind to wait through the dragging months until 1968's Christmas and New Year workers' home leave are the women, the children and the old.
St. John blooms only in those four weeks each year when the menfolk come back home.
Couples had to queue before the parish church over this Christmas and New Year holiday for 100 marriages crowded into the brief homecoming for young migrant men who had saved enough to wed the girls who waited.
Then they left the new brides to learn the town's old lesson of patience and loneliness until next year.
Homecoming fathers this year fondled 400 babies born last fall that they had never seen before.
It has been that way as long as the oldest resident can remember, because there is no work here.
The only change is that in the past year or two some of the migrant workers started taking their wives north with them.
"They found out that a lot of what they earn goes for meals and laundry," explained Don Giuseppe Andriotti, 72, the parish priest. "So some of them are taking their women with them."
"If you don't leave, you don't eat," said Blafora Oliverio, 59, who has been the town's busiest
